Consuelo Foundation is a non-profit organization founded by Consuelo Zobel Alger. Guided by her vision, we catalyze community-based approaches to promote and restore the well-being of at-risk children and families, and to prevent and treat child abuse, neglect and exploitation. We collaborate with partners to implement effective, innovative, and culturally-responsive solutions in communities in the Philippines and Hawai'i.

WELCOME

Dear Colleagues,

It took us many years of hard work to be here today talking about mental health. Mental health has always been the elephant in the room that we did not really want to tackle. The evaluation of the Women and Child Protection Units last year showed that this is the service that majority of WCPUs lack. It is a gap that the whole country feels. It needed a typhoon as strong as Yolanda to light a fire under our feet. We have been waiting for years for our country to have enough psychologists and psychiatrists to fulfill the need but progress is slow. I think our people now realize that there are many mental health needs and that it is not stigmatizing to receive help. This year's AKO PARA SA BATA Conference aims to show the wide array of evidence-based mental health interventions for traumatized children. To begin, we will interact with a clinical social worker from the Univ. of Southern California, Prof. Marlene Wong, who will talk about trauma-informed care in the school setting. We will experience music therapy from Irvin Kalugdan, a Fil-Am who is a certified therapist as well as a Grammy award winner at that! Aside from the different mental health interventions, we will show that there are many ways that this can be delivered; task-shifting is possible and new specialties can be developed.

For the first time, we are offering a certificate course on Trauma-Informed Care and a training leading to certification in Trauma-Informed Philippine Psychotherapy in parallel with the AKO PARA SA BATA Conference. This will be a continuing training to build the human resource for mental health in our country. We would like to thank DOH Secretary Paulyn Jean Rosell-Ubial for accepting our invitation to be the keynote speaker, underlining mental health as one of the flagship programs of this administration. The Department of Health has been CPN's partner from the start.

We would like to congratulate Kindernothilfe, our most valuable partner awardee for 2016! Kindernothilfe has been working quietly in the Philippines for more than 30 years, focusing on the most underserved areas of our country. Kindernothilfe has supported the development of Women and Child Protection Units in Antique, Capiz, South Cotabato, Zamboanga del Sur, Batangas, Cagayan de Oro as well as the provision of mental health services at the UP-PGH Child Protection Unit. KNH has allowed us to grow in so many ways.

AKO PARA SA BATA has flourished because of our partners and you, our delegates. Our co-presenters for this year, Consuelo Foundation and UNICEF have been Most Valuable Partner awardees themselves. Allow us to thank you even as we walk side-by-side in this journey with our children.

Ako Para sa Bata,

BERNADETTE J. MADRID, MD

Conference President, AKO PARA SA BATA: The International Conference in Manila 2016

Executive Director, Child Protection Network Foundation, Inc.

Greetings!

Welcome to this year's AKO PARA SA BATA International Conference in Manila to be held at the SMX Convention Center from December 1-2, 2016. We hope that you will be able to maximize your learning and take the opportunity to network and bond with fellow practitioners, friends, and experts from the Philippines and around the world in the field of child protection and mental health.

We chose to focus on mental health issues specifically on traumatic stress to address a major gap in the assessment and management of children in need of protection. The range of topics prepared by the scientific committee are very relevant and compelling as the speakers themselves, all renowned specialists, will guide you in the discussion of the brain and the healing process of every child and their families. For the first time we are offering certificate courses related to Trauma Informed Care and Trauma Informed Philippine Psychotherapy which will run before and after the main conference.

Please join us too during the awarding ceremonies and fellowship night to get to know the workers from different sectors from the legal, police, medical, psychology, parents, teachers, social work and allied professions.

I would also like to highlight the dedication and tireless efforts of all the chairs and members of the organizing committee and our Executive Director Dr. Madrid for without them this event would not have been possible. The same token of gratitude to all our sponsors, partner agencies, and speakers who magnanimously shared their time, support, and talent in making this a successful event.

Lastly, thank you to all the participants of this event because with your presence you make our work possible and you share with us our advocacy and journey towards child protection and making the next generation not only healthy but happy.

NORIETA C. BALDERRAMA, MD

AKO PARA SA BATA The International Conference in Manila 2016

WELCOME MESSAGE

My warmest greetings to the Child Protection Network Foundation, Inc. as you hold your 8th AKO PARA SA BATA The International Conference.

Our children will inherit this world and we have the moral obligation to inculcate the same virtues that our forebears have passed down to us. We, adults, are mere stewards with the duty to make sure that the future generations shall live in an environment that shall cultivate excellence, creativity, and goodwill. By promoting a stress-free environment and fostering a healthy lifestyle for them, we can be assured that the future of this country will be at the hands of caring, virtuous, and responsible adults.

I laud the Child Protection Network Foundation, Inc. for your strong ideals, unwavering dedication, and deep compassion for our children. The proliferation of threats brought by the erosion of faith in humanity have exposed them to grave danger and have left them vulnerable to the subtle threat of stress and damaging trauma. With your tools. expertise, and collaboration with various disciplines, we can preserve the moral fiber of our society.

Let us work together as one big family as we provide our children with the love, understanding, guidance, and counselling that they need. Together, we can ensure their healthy minds, hearts, and bodies so that they can reach their full potentials and achieve their aspirations in life.

Republic of the Philippines

Warmest greetings to the members of the Child Protection Network (CPN) Foundation Inc. and the participants of the 8th AKO PARA SA BATA!

We are truly inspired by your continued effort to enriching shared knowledge on coping mechanisms for children who are not in favorable situations, especially those who have been abused. The theme for this year's international conference, "Stressed? Coping, Recovery, and Healing" is testament to your commitment in ensuring that our youth is well taken cared of particularly in their time of need.

We hope that as social workers, doctors, psychologists, community workers, local government units, and other professionals from various disciplines gather towards one cause, more will be encouraged to take part in such a productive assembly. We are confident that you will grow in number and your reach to support and assist will expand. so that more children will benefit from your hard work.

To the participants, we trust that you will make the best out of this meeting and keep in mind that you are inspiring change that affects the Filipino youth directly, as well as the future we all face. These children are the hope of our nation, and their safety and wellbeing has been entrusted to us---those who can and should fight for their rights.

Congratulations to CPN for initiating another momentous conference and more power to vou all!

Mabuhay tayong lahat!

LENI ROBRED Vice President

WELCOME MESSAGE

It is with immense pleasure and pride that I extend my warm greetings to the Child Protection Network Foundation, Inc as it holds its 8th AKO PARA SA BATA International Conference in Manila.

The children of our nation, the young and vulnerable, should be properly cared for and nurtured. It is our fundamental duty as citizens of this country to ensure that all Filipino children are raised in a safe and healthy environment. Thus, recognizing that child abuse is a reality, a serious concern often overlooked and neglected, I would like to take this opportunity to commend and express my profound gratitude to your organization for your unrelenting efforts in addressing this problem.

This year's conference focuses on Mental Health and hopes to educate caregivers of abused children about the effects of trauma and stress to the overall well-being of the child. This is very timely as DOH is also advocating and pushing for Mental Health to be a public health priority. Rest assured, we at the department are in full support of your organization. May you uphold the values of integrity, excellence, and compassion as you continue to be the champions of our children. We call on you to help us in realize our goals through a strategy called ACHIEVE:

A - Advance primary care and quality

C - Cover all Filipinos against financial health risk

H - Harness power of strategic health human resource

I - Invest in digital health and data for decision-making

E - Enforce standards, accountability and transparency

V - Value clients and patients

E - Elicit multi-sector, multi-stakeholder support for health

With this, I wish all the participants and organizers success and a fruitful day ahead.

Let us continue to work together for our shared vision of "ALL for Health towards Health for ALL."

Mabuhay!

Secretary

Department of Health

Warm greetings to the officers, members, and organizers of the Child Protection Network (CPN) Foundation, Inc. on your 8th AKO PARA SA BATA The International Conference in Manila to be held at the SMX Convention Center in Pasav City on December 1-2, 2016.

The United Nations Declaration on the Rights of Children mandates its member countries to ensure the well-being of children in their respective domain. In support of this, the Philippines has passed several legislations for the benefit of our children.

As your partner in the government, the Department of Education (DepEd) is currently including in its priorities the welfare of our public school children by supporting prochildren laws and policies. We have been intensifying our Child Protection Policy aimed at promoting the rights of our children for safety and protection at all times, particularly during their stay in our school premises.

This year's theme "Stressed? Coping, Recovery, and Healing" significantly reflects DepEd's policy to make our schools more conducive and our teaching and non-teaching personnel more capable in developing a healthy and safe environment for our young learners

To our partners in this advocacy, may your efforts expand and your future flourish with the learning you gain in this event. We are confident that your participation is a great way to further intensify your role in the welfare and development of our Filipino children.

It is our sincerest hope that more efforts will be done for the entire nation to recognize the value of this conference toward a better future.

Congratulations!

WELCOME MESSAGE

My heartfelt greetings to the Child Protection Network (CPN) Foundation, Inc. for organizing and conducting the 8th AKO PARA SA BATA International Conference in Manila.

I am honored to welcome and join the organizers, delegates and guests of this interdisciplinary forum which tackles the welfare, security and protection of our children, with particular emphasis on the effects of stress and trauma on their wellbeing

The City Government of Manila has endeavored to provide the most comprehensive welfare system to our youth and children. We have established a daily nutritious breakfast program for elementary students to address hunger and malnutrition. We have implemented the Zero Street Dwellers program to rescue families, especially the children, from the evident dangers of living in our highways. We have repaired and modernized our sports parks and playgrounds to provide them with decent public spaces where they can practice their hobbies and recreation. We have re-launched the substance use prevention and education program to save our youth from the scourge of illegal drugs.

Rest assured that the City of Manila is one with you and truly committed not only to building a government responsive to the needs and concerns of our children, but more so creating a child-friendly environment where they are safe and well taken care of and their rights respected and upheld.

Congratulations!

JOSEPH EJERCITO ESTRADA

Mayor City of Manila Greetings to the speakers and delegates of the 8th AKO PARA SA BATA International Conference in Manila!

Consuelo Foundation has always been deeply vested in providing the best care and support to survivors of abuse working towards the hope that one day, no child will ever be neglected, abused or exploited, and that families and communities will nurture all children in a safe environment.

Consuelo Foundation has partnered with Child Protection Network in various developmental efforts to prevent and treat abuse, neglect, and exploitation investing in the most effective social programs for children, youth and families.

Mental Health, the theme of the AKO PARA SA BATA Conference this year, is timely and necessary. The effects of stress and trauma on health and well-being should indeed be understood and addressed in order to be more effective in the field of child protection.

To our invaluable partner, CPN, congratulations! It's always our privilege to work with you towards our shared vision of protecting our children.

To the participants, may you continue to be part of a dynamic and responsive ecosystem that provides for healing and recovery to survivors and children at-risk. Let us all work together, give hope and make a difference in the lives of children, women, and families! Mabuhay po tayong lahat!

ATTY. CARMELA ANDAL-CASTRO Managing Director Consuelo Zobel Alger Foundation

Over the years, UNICEF is honoured to have been a supporter of AKO PARA SA BATA – a gathering of partners from social services, academe, health, law enforcement, local government and civil society sectors to address critical challenges facing Filipino children. This year's theme, 'Mental health in the context of stressful situations', explores a concern affecting children in a range of difficult situations; including natural disasters and conflict, and as a result of exploitation, abuse, violence and neglect.

Children's well-being and survival are essentially linked with both their physical and mental health. Children who grow up in stressful circumstances including experiences of violence or abuse, or emergencies where homes and communities are destroyed, may suffer poor development outcomes. Those who suffer from severe stress, and have poor mental health, typically find it more difficult to stay in school, or to maintain positive social relationships.

Repeated stress, caused by a violent environment or within dysfunctional families, can impair a child's brain development. Re-occurring violent or traumatic experiences, from infancy through adolescence, and exposure to stress over time, impedes children's ability to learn and realize their full potential.

Recognizing the critical importance of mental health for children's optimal development, Psycho-Social Support (PSS) for children is identified as one of UNICEF's Core Commitments for Children within emergency response. UNICEF encourages PSS in a number of ways, including through training / capacity building on PSS for teachers and parents, and through the establishment of child friendly spaces; ensuring that children continue to learn and play and be protected, even when their families and communities are under stress.

In the Philippines there are many good examples of programmes and policies that address the psychosocial well-being of children, both in emergency and development contexts, including several that UNICEF has been keen to support. The Protocol for Case Management of Child Victims of Abuse, Neglect and Exploitation, is a noted example, where the adverse effects of physical, emotional and sexual abuse and neglect are prevented from re-occurring or worsening, and are addressed through attention to psychosocial support initiatives.

In recent years, some of the emerging threats to the mental and emotional health of children include online exploitation and abuse. Children abused and exploited through these treacherous and evolving forms of violence, are often emotionally scarred, thus their recovery and rehabilitation require a deeper understanding of PSS in the age of online abuse.

Through this years' AKO PARA SA BATA, I join parents, social workers, teachers, doctors, psychologists, law enforcement, LGUs and barangay officials, and all other partners, in advocating for greater attention to the mental and emotional health and well-being of children. I encourage efforts that support families and children in communities in this endeavour, including in particular the women and children protection units designed to meet their needs.

Noting the very critical multi sectoral nature of this work, we continue to encourage collaborative efforts already in progress with the government and with the NGO and LGU partners.

Mabuhay kayong lahat, at maraming salamat po sa patuloy na suporta!

CONFERENCE OBJECTIVES

General Objective

By the end of the conference, the participants will be aware of the effects of stress and trauma on health and well-being; they will also be trained to be part of the systems that provide intervention for healing and recovery.

Specific Objectives

The participants of the conference will be able to:

- 1. Explain the biological effects of stress and trauma and how it impacts every aspect of well-being.
- 2. Identify individuals who are traumatized using screening tools, risk factors and behavioral indicators.
- 3. Provide intervention in various ways depending on the level of competency and training.

PLENARY SESSIONS: OBJECTIVES & ABSTRACTS

DAY 1: DECEMBER 1, 2016

PLENARY 1: Trauma and the Brain Speaker: Gerard B. Salazar, MD

While experiences change the mature brain, it is the experiences during critical periods of early childhood that organize brain systems. Thus, events in childhood have a greater impact on the developing brain. This lecture will provide participants with an understanding of how traumatic stress affects the brain

Objectives:

- 1. Describe the basic processes of neurodevelopment
- 2. Explain the neurobiological response to traumatic stress
- 3. State factors that influence the response to trauma
- 4. Discuss long term effects of trauma on the brain

PLENARY 2: Trauma Informed Care in the Schools

Speaker: Marleen Wong, PhD, LCSW

This presentation will identify some of the sources of child trauma and its impact on children's behavior and academic achievement.

Objectives:

- 1. Describe the biological effects of stress and trauma and how it impacts academic progress, health and well-being
- 2. Introduce screening tools, risk factors and behavioral indicators
- 3. Introduce teacher friendly interventions that can be helpful to healing the wounds of trauma in children

PLENARY 3: Filipino Family Under Stress

Speaker: Ma. Lourdes "Honey" A. Carandang, PhD

The social stresses experienced by families are felt by and are reflected in its more vulnerable members - the children. This lecture provides insights into the workings of the Filipino family and how children's behavior may be expressions of family stress.

Objectives:

- 1. Discuss key concepts of Filipino family dynamics
- 2. Discuss common family stresses and children's reactions to stress
- 3. Present an overview of common interventions currently available in dealing with children affected by family stress

PLENARY 4: Spiritual Aspects of Psychotherapy

Speaker: Cornelio Banaag, Jr., MD

Spirituality and faith are essential components of Filipino culture and how children and families deal with traumatic events. This lecture emphasizes the importance of using spirituality as essential part of therapy.

Objectives:

- 1. Discuss the relationship between spirituality, psychiatry and psychotherapy
- 2. Describe the role of spirituality in the healing process
- 3. Identify spirituality-informed psychotherapeutic approaches

LUNCHEON SYMPOSIUM: Launch of Safe Schools Website
Speaker: Nemuel S. Fajutagana, MD, MHPed

Teachers have a unique role in responding to and preventing child sexual abuse because they have the most contact with children outside their homes. The Safe Schools Website houses the trainings and resources of the Safe Schools for Teens Project, including a certificate course for teachers on the 4Rs of child abuse. The website will also feature resources for the prevention of cyberbullying.

DAY 2: DECEMBER 2. 2016

PLENARY 5: How Boys and Girls Seek Help After Being Abused

Speaker: Bernadette J. Madrid, MD

Statistics on child sexual abuse show clear gender differences. While most research has focused on disclosure rates, there is evidence that gender also influences how an individual or community reacts to disclosures, how cases are reported to authorities, and how they are investigated.

Objectives:

- 1. Present evidence on gender differences in responding to child abuse
- 2. Discuss how people to whom children disclose should respond
- 3. Propose policies, programs and/or services that will improve disclosure and reporting rates among boys and girls who are abused

PLENARY 6: Follow-up on Commitments made during the AKO PARA SA BATA Conference 2015: Manifesto of Support against Online Child Abuse

Contributors:

- DSWD USec. Vilma B. Cabrera, CESO II
- International Justice Mission
- Cebuano Youth
- ECPAT Philippines
- Department of Education
- Philippine Pediatric Society, Inc.
- Terre des Hommes Netherlands, Philippine Country Office
- UNICEF Philippines

Lead Presenter:

Marianne Naomi Navarro-Poca, MD

A year-end report on activities that have been undertaken by participating organizations and agencies that committed to protecting children from the effects of cyber issues during the 2015 AKO PARA SA BATA The International Conference in Cebu.

PLENARY 7: Music Therapy: "Where Words Fail, Music Speaks"

Speaker: Irvin Sayoc Kalugdan, MMT, MT-BC

In the quote, "where words fail, music speaks", Hans Christian Anderson became one of the many people searching for an eloquent way to describe the deeper role of music in the human experience and the healing process. Researchers and practitioners have been searching for ways to substantiate how music therapy can be used as part of a clinical interdisciplinary team. This session will provide information on the profession, clinical training and certification of music therapists in addition to helping differentiate between music as therapy versus using music within a therapeutic context.

Objectives:

- 1. Provide an introduction to Music Therapy including professional standards of practice and code of ethics, clinical training and internships, and certification and continuing education
- 2. Discuss Music Therapy in practice. Its target populations, sample interventions and researches
- 3. Present current situation of Music Therapy in the Philippines and neighboring countries

SIMULTANEOUS SYMPOSIUM B2 & C2:

(Please see above information on B1 & C1)

SIMULTANEOUS SYMPOSIUM D2: Play and Expressive Arts Therapy

Chair: Larimer V. Hugo, MD
Co-Chair: Nicole S. Tangco. MD

Part 1: Working Therapeutically With Babies: Strengthening Secure Attachment Through Touch & Play

Speaker: Joy P. Malinit, MD

This symposium explores play and the use of expressive arts as form of psychotherapeutic interventions.

Objectives:

- Explain methods and programs that help parents strengthen their relationship with their children through Parent Child Attachment Play
- 2. Introduce techniques on how to strengthen secure attachment through touch and play
- 3. Observe basic techniques on how to properly touch and play with children for the purpose of healing

Part 2: The Magic of Play: Uses of Expressive Arts Therapy in Clinical Practice

Speakers: Maria Teresa F. Aguilar, MA, RPsy
Ma. Fiona Ella G. Sandoval, MA, RPsy
Ma. Blesila D. de Asis, MA, CSCLP, RPsy

This symposium shall discuss three cases explaining the use of expressive arts as a clinical tool for therapeutic assessment and intervention. One case is about a boy who loves gadgets and through therapeutic play found value in socialization and made new friends. Another case delves into the life of a hyper-sensitive boy whose art became his language of experience. Lastly, it shall also share a case of a sexually abused child who told her story through play and found meaning in doing so. The case presentations shall highlight how play in its natural and non-threatening way can be a child's safe harbor in coming to terms with social concerns and trauma. Guided by the principles of child-directed therapy, the clinicians shall also cull their own insights from the therapeutic process.

Objectives

- 1. Explain basic foundations of the use of expressive arts as a form of therapy
- 2. Experience how to instruct children to do expressive arts
- 3. Explain how expressive arts heal the child

SIMULTANEOUS SYMPOSIUM E2: Self-Care and Well-Being for Healthcare Providers

Chair: Ma. Theresa P. Tibon

Co-Chair: Sr. Vienvenida C. Viovicente, OSR Speakers: June Caridad Pagaduan-Lopez. MD

Rebecca R. Ortega

All of us at least once, experience an adverse life event (ALE) in our lifetime as survivors of sickness, domestic violence, drug addiction, natural disasters, bankruptcy, and religious or racial conflicts, etc.. All of these experiences impact on our physical, mental, emotional and spiritual well-being. From the start of recovery to the end, there was a person, a caregiver, or a healthcare provider who accompanied us in our journey from a survivor back to wellness and well-being.

Most of them such as nurses, therapists or teacher, become overwhelmed by their caring responsibilities, continually experience stress, poor health and run the risk of burnout. The concern for 'carers' is how to generate lots of empathy and compassion- for themselves and the person they are caring for- in order to remain in the presence of suffering without being overwhelmed

The workshop will focus on well-being, the conceptual theme is adopted from the book, The Heart of Well Being*, providing basic knowledge, with a focus on basic knowledge about the nature of well-being, trauma and recovery as well as the introduction of simple holistic "tools for surviving and thriving" and reducing stress-induced tension.

Objectives:

At the end of the workshop, participants will be expected:

- 1. To have opportunity to look at their current level of well being
- 2. To be introduced to simple but effective ways of improving well-being in different aspects of one's life
- 3. To recognize indicators of resilience as well as vulnerability
- 4. To discover more about themselves and their inner resources

SIMULTANEOUS SYMPOSIUM F2: Safe Schools: Preventing Child Sexual Abuse

Chair: Marissa A. Resulta, MD
Co-Chair: May Ann C. Demetrio, RSW
Speakers: Gilda Dans Lopez, PhD

DepEd USec. Atty. Alberto T. Muyot Deborah A. Fry, MA, MPH, PhD

The school is one social institution outside the family with which nearly all children have interaction and an on-going contact. It is considered as a second home to a child. Therefore, it is a venue particularly well suited for identifying maltreated children which includes sexual abuse.

Ninety five percent (95%) of sexual abuse is preventable through education and awareness. The school serves as a venue to teach its students the necessary tools to keep them safe. Teachers are in optimal position to identify and assist victims of child sexual abuse because of their frequent interaction with students.

This symposium will discuss the role of schools in the prevention of child sexual abuse and the importance of child protection policy. It will also discuss about the role of mindfulness in the prevention of peer sexual abuse through regulation of one's emotions and knowing the healthy responses towards sexual impulse. We will conclude the symposium by discussing the results of the Safe Schools Philippines study among the grade 7 and 8 students.

SIMULTANEOUS SYMPOSIUM G2: Mental Health Gap (Mental Health Curriculum)

Chair: Joseph B. Sayo, MD
Co-Chair: Jesus S. Far. RSW. MSW

Speakers: Elizabeth Protacio-De Castro, PhD

Violeta V. Bautista, PhD Dinah Palmera P. Nadera, MD

The mental health Gap Action Program (mhGAP) was launched by WHO in 2008 to address the lack of care for people suffering from mental, neurological and substance abuse disorders. Part 2 tackles basic psychological support for individuals suffering from acute distress after a recent traumatic experience.

As international and national humanitarian organizations came to help the country respond to the destruction brought by Typhoon Yolanda (Haiyan) and work towards rebuilding and recovery, they brought with them varied framework, approaches, strategies and activities to provide mental health and psychosocial support (MHPSS) to the survivors, including service providers. Thus, a review and development of pertinent and relevant documents on mental health and psychosocial support in emergencies (MHPSSiE) programs, interventions and activities in selected disaster and armed conflict-affected areas in the Philippines were made and implemented.

Part 2 tackles basic psychological support for individuals suffering from acute distress after a recent traumatic experience.

SIMULTANEOUS SYMPOSIUM H2: Music Therapy: Current Trends & Perspectives

Chair: Namnama Villarta-De Dios, MD
Co-Chair: Sandra S. Hernandez, MD

Speaker: Irvin Savoc Kalugdan, MMT, MT-BC

The idea of music as a healing influence which could affect health and behavior is as least as old as the writings of Aristotle and Plato. In this longer session format, participants will gain a deeper understanding about the role that music can play as treatments and interventions for a variety of human conditions and situations. Participants will learn how music therapists are trained, certified and then hired in hospitals, schools and health organizations around the world to work with a variety of populations and conditions. To further demonstrate the work of a music therapist, participants will be engaged in musical experiences and activities that could be used by music therapists to work with clients. Prior musical experience is not necessary for this session.

FACTORS ASSOCIATED WITH SUBSTANCE ABUSE TREATMENT PROGRAM RETENTION: A MIXED METHOD ANALYSIS

Geselle C. Manguiat, MA, RPsv

Colegio de San Juan de Letran-Manila, University of the Philippines- Diliman

Several people have considered the drug rehabilitation program as one of the keys to addiction recovery process. This resulted to an increase in drug rehabilitation admittance. In connection to this trend, an emerging literature has examined the factors associated with treatment program enrollment. Apace with program enrollment is a long-standing issue of patients' program retention. However, there is a scarcity of literature examining the factors associated with program retention among Asians. In the Philippines, non-treatment completion has been increasingly observed in different facilities. Yet, there is a paucity of published work on program retention among substance use patients.

The current study aims to identify and examine the possible factors that contribute to retention of substance-use patients in the treatment program. It utilized Classification and Regression Trees (CART) in analyzing the survey result and thematic analysis in analyzing the interviews. Sixty-three male substance use, in-patients in the therapeutic community (TC) rehabilitation center participated in the survey and five after-care patients participated in the interviews. Results revealed that recognition of substance abuse and age are significant factors in program retention. Potential barriers to program retention were also identified, such as resistance to being treated and family sentiments. On the other hand, motivations of patients to stay in the program are fear of family abandonment, family support, acceptance, empowerment, career and peer support.

EXPERIENTIAL AVOIDANCE AS A MEDIATOR BETWEEN REJECTION SENSITIVITY AND SOCIAL INTERACTION ANXIETY

Marcella Sintos

De La Salle University - Manila

Due to the overarching and related concepts involved in interpersonal sensitivity, this study aimed to look at differences and relationships of some of its concepts by explaining the mediating effect of experiential avoidance on rejection sensitivity and social interaction anxiety. One hundred fifty-nine undergraduates within the National Capital Region, aged 16 to 40 (M = 19.29, SD = 2.89) and comprising of 89 females and 70 males participated in the study. Results show that both rejection sensitivity and experiential avoidance significantly affect social interaction anxiety. Also, a full mediation occurred when experiential avoidance served as a mediator. This is explained through the occurrence of habitual coping, whereby the cognitive aspect of behavior (in this case, rejection sensitivity) becomes dormant and unnecessary. Some variables which may have possibly accounted for the relationship of these concepts may be considered for future research to validate and better understand the findings of this study.

Ms. Vilma B. Cabrera is the Undersecretary of the Department of Social Welfare and Development (DSWD) handling the Protective Programs of the Operations and Programs Group covering the disaster risk reduction programs, early recovery and rehabilitation efforts, and the protective services programs. She has extensive background and hands-on experience in disaster risks reduction and management and project development management spanning more than thirty years. She is highly experienced in managing poverty reduction and social protection programs, and her knowledge in development issues span the areas of poverty reduction; social protection focusing on disadvantaged sectors such as children and women; development planning; social technology development; institutional capacity building, network and partnership and cooperation management; community organization and development disaster management and post conflict rehabilitation.

As former Assistant Secretary and Director of Program Management Bureau, the largest bureau at that time, and the primary unit in the Department, she was responsible for the management of national projects involving the disadvantaged sectors of children, women, older person and persons with disabilities. She was the former Executive Director for the Secretariat of the Comprehensive and Integrated Delivery of Social Services (CIDSS), a major poverty reduction program of the Philippine Government which proved to be one of the most successful among poverty reduction programs and has been adapted by four administrations since 1995. Her dedication to work was challenged when her life was put to risk in 2003, for which she earned the GAWAD KALASAG in recognition of her utmost devotion to work.

Ms. Cabrera has been designated as focal person and agency representative to the National Risks Reduction and Management Council's (NDRRMC) Technical Management Group and instrumental in the crafting and approval by the NDRRMC of the National Disaster Response Plans (NDRPs) for Hydro-meteorological Hazards, and for Earthquake and Tsunami. She has been designated as the Department's focal person for disaster response, early recovery and rehabilitation, at the same time coordinator for the assistance of the United Nations Humanitarian Country Team, bilateral and development partners, and other national and international stakeholders.

Ms. Cabrera has attended various international and local training programs specifically on Disaster Risks Reduction Management, Internally Displaced Persons (IDP) Protection, and Gender-related programs, and has received numerous recognitions and awards for her remarkable career. She obtained her Master's Degree in Social Work at UP and Bachelor's Degree at the University of Southern Philippines.

She has three children and one grandchild.

IRVIN S. KALUGDAN, MMT, MT-BC

Irvin Sayoc Kalugdan is a licensed music educator, board certified music therapist and active musician living and working in the Alexandria, Virginia area. His professional endeavors are driven by his goals to advocate for and foster the use of music, movement and art in our everyday lives. He earned his Bachelors of Music and Masters in Music Therapy from the Shenandoah Conservatory. Currently in his 19th year in the Fairfax County Public School system of Virginia, Irvin continues to work as the music therapist at the Mount Vernon High School Comprehensive Emotional Disabilities Service Site servicing at-risk youth and adolescents with emotional disabilities. In addition, he has worked and volunteered for various health and arts related organizations in the Washington, DC metro area.

Originating from Northeast Philadelphia, Irvin's environmental and musical influences led him to become a singer, dancer, avid guitarist and performer. In addition to having performed and presented both domestically and internationally, Irvin has several recording credits one of which earned a Grammy award in 2000 for best choral performance. His professional experiences in music therapy range from community based program development and sustainability, public speaking, music experientials and workshops (ie. drum circles and performances) as well as research and clinical practice.

Irvin has operated as a private music therapy and pedagogy practitioner for over 18 years and is now the owner of the Creative Arts Therapy Studio, LLC, a Washington, DC based business offering art, music and dance/movement therapy, education and entertainment services. In an effort to create sustainable business practices at the Mount Vernon High School Comprehensive Service Site (MVHS CSS) for children with emotional disabilities, Irvin created business partnerships and also won a variety of granting opportunities including the Fender Music Foundation and Apple Federal Credit Union grants. In 2014, he won the Grammy Signature Schools Enterprise Award for Mount Vernon High School. His work at MVHS CSS also includes volunteering as an internship site supervisor for up and coming music therapists. His advocacy work for music therapy has brought him before various audiences including the United States Congress, NASA, the DC Grammy chapter and various health organizations in the Philippines.

PLENARY SPEAKER

SHAMAINE CENTENERA-BUENCAMINO

Shamaine Centenera-Buencamino is well known for her acting prowess on stage, film, and television. She's that archetype of a mother in the soap opera factory and in rom-com movies. She currently plays the mother of Alyanna in ABS-CBN's popular TV show "Ang Probinsiyano." Shamaine met his actor husband Nonie at CCP's resident theater company, playing husband and wife in "Taga sa Panahon," a Filipino translation of the play "A Man for All Seasons. Their mutual love for theater ended in marriage during their stints at Tanghalang Pilipino where they were pioneer members. They were blessed with four children.

Shamaine went swiftly from theater arts scholar at the Philippine High School for the Arts and University of the Philippines to a gallery of stage roles such as Helena in "A Midsummer Night's Dream," Jocasta in "Oedipus Rex," a heartbreaking Atang de la Rama in Floy Quintos' "Atang," an acclaimed turn as Josephine Bracken in Layeta Bucoy's "Tu Dulce Estranjera," which she performed in Dublin, Ireland. Her most recent portrayals in Red Turnip's 33 Variations and Tanghalang Pilipino's Juego de Peligro both earned her best actress nominations in this year's Gawad Buhay Awards. She won best supporting actress trophies in three separate award giving bodies, namely Cinemalaya, Golden Screen and the 6th Asian Film Awards in Hong Kong, for her role in the indie film Niño. She was also nominated as best actress for her role in Cinemaone's Lorna at last year's Asia Pacific Awards held in Australia.

PROFILE OF PARTNER ORGANIZATIONS

Consuelo Foundation, founded by Consuelo Zobel Alger, is an operating foundation registered under laws of the United States of America. It operates and supports programs in Hawai'i and the Philippines that prevent and treat abuse, neglect and the exploitation of children, women and families. Consuelo contracts the services of Non-Government Organizations and private organizations engaged in providing direct service to these children, women and families. Since its inception in 1988, Consuelo Foundation has reached more than 400,000 beneficiaries and has invested more than 75 million dollars.

The Department of Health (DOH) holds the over-all technical authority on health as it is a national health policy-maker and regulatory institution. The DOH has three major roles in the health sector: (1) leadership in health; (2) enabler and capacity builder; and (3) administrator of specific services. Its mandate is to develop national plans, technical standards, and guidelines on health. Aside from being the regulator of all health services and products, the DOH is the provider of special tertiary health care services and technical assistance to health providers and stakeholders.

Kindernothilfe (KNH), German for "Supporting children in need", was founded in Germany in 1959 as a Christian organisation to support vulnerable and marginalized children and youth to develop their full potentials. Today, it ranks among the largest NGOs for development cooperation in Germany. KNH's work in the Philippines focuses on bringing about lasting change to social structures. KNH primarily helps sexually abused children so they can come to terms with their traumatic experiences. In addition to helping children, programmes designed to increase family incomes and to help create self-help groups are supported.

United Nations Children's Fund (UNICEF) is an agency of the United Nations devoted to serving the world's children. UNICEF began providing assistance to the Philippines in November 1948. UNICEF Philippines has more than 60 people working to promote and protect the rights of children. It aims to provide the best quality of life for every Filipino child through programmes that help them survive and flourish. It implements programmes covering education, health and nutrition, disaster risk reduction and emergencies, HIV and AIDS prevention, child protection, communication, and local policy and institutional development.

The United Nations Population Fund (UNFPA) works to promote the right of every woman. man and child to enjoy a life of health and equal opportunity. UNFPA supports countries in using population data for policies and programmes to reduce poverty. UNFPA's vision is of a world where every pregnancy is wanted, every birth is safe, every young person is free of HIV and AIDS, and every woman and girl is treated with dignity and respect. In the Philippines, UNFPA's overall goal is to empower and improve the lives of underserved populations. especially women and young people including adolescents, enabled by an understanding of population dynamics, human rights and gender equality, and driven by the needs of Filipinos and tailored to the Philippine context.
